Data Protection Policy

Aim

To ensure suitable systems are in place so that personal data is:

- Processed fairly, lawfully and in a transparent manner
- Collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes
- Adequate, relevant and not excessive
- Accurate and up-to-date
- Not kept for longer than necessary
- Secure

Context

This policy complies with the European Union General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) 2018. This policy applies to all services and departments within Positive Futures and applies to all staff and volunteers (including HomeShare Carers/Hosts) and any other organisation or individuals working with / on behalf of Positive Futures who have access to personal data.

The GDPR applies to the processing of 'personal data' meaning any information relating to an identifiable person who can be directly or indirectly identified in particular by reference to an identifier e.g. name, identification number, location data or online identifier.

'Special categories' (sensitive personal data) relating to data subjects attract additional protection and include race, ethnic origin, political opinions, religion, trade union membership, genetics, biometrics (where used for ID purposes), health, sex life and sexual orientation. This type of data could create more significant risks to a person's fundamental rights and freedoms. For example, by putting them at risk of unlawful discrimination.

Processing personal and special category information involves obtaining, recording, holding or carrying out any operation or set of operations including:

- organisation, adaptation or alteration
- retrieval, consultation or use
- disclosure by transmission, dissemination or otherwise making available
- alignment, combination, blocking, erasure or destruction

Policy Statement

Documentation

Positive Futures document any processing activities in the Records Retention and Disposal Schedule (DPOP 1.01). See Records Retention and Disposal Schedule (DPOP 1.01) for further details.

Legal Basis for Processing Personal Data

Positive Futures identifies a legal basis for processing personal data and a special category condition for any special category data before processing the data and documents these within the Records Retention and Disposal Schedule (DPOP 1.01). Refer to Records Retention and Disposal Schedule (DPOP 1.01) for further details.

Privacy Notices

Details of any processing activities and the rights of data subjects are explained within the relevant Privacy Notices which all data subjects receive before Positive Futures begins to process their personal data. Privacy notices are written in clear, age-appropriate language or in easy-read format, where required and are available on our website www.positive-futures.ie

Subject Access Requests

Subject access requests are submitted using the Subject Access Request Form (DP 1a). Positive Futures gives data subjects access to their personal data free of charge¹ within 1 month² of receiving a subject access request, unless the request is refused. Positive Futures may refuse a request for access to data if the request is manifestly unfounded, excessive or repetitive. If a request is refused the Information Manager will inform the person who has requested the information, of the reason for the refusal and inform them of their right to complain to the supervisory authority and to a judicial remedy, within one month of the decision to refuse the request being made.

Any information relating to a third party is removed from the record before being released, unless the third party has authorised the release of this information.

The Information Manager records any subject access requests on the Subject Access Request Log along with the reasons for any refusals to respond. See Subject Access Request Log for further details.

Data Sharing Agreements

Positive Futures has a signed Data Sharing Agreement with all data processors to ensure the data processor meets the requirements under the GDPR and ensure the rights of data subjects are protected (where the obligations of the processor relating to data protection are not already covered in the original contract with Positive Futures). Data sharing agreements are documented these in the Data Sharing Log. See Data Sharing Log for further details.

Data Protection by Design and Default

¹ A 'reasonable fee' (based on the administrative cost of providing the information) may be charged when a request is manifestly unfounded or excessive, particularly if it is repetitive, and to comply with requests for further copies of the same information

² A further two months may be added where requested are complex and numerous. Where this is the case the Information Manager must write to the data subject within 1 month explaining why the extension is necessary

Positive Futures designs systems and processes with data protection in mind and uses privacy impact assessments to identify any new or enhanced technical and organisational measures that are required to protect personal and special category data.

Privacy Impact Assessments

Privacy impact assessments are completed by the relevant manager when undertaking a new project that involves the use of personal data or a new way of working that could have an impact on the privacy of individuals using the Privacy Impact Assessment Template (DP 1c). Any additional or increased risks relating to children's or people we support data are considered. Refer to the Risk Management Policy (Risk 0.01) for further details.

International Transfers

Positive Futures will only transfer personal data outside the European Union to third countries or international organisations when the organisation receiving the personal data has provided adequate safeguards to Positive Futures.

Data Breaches

Data breaches (including any suspected data breaches) are identified, reported, recorded, investigated and escalated as per Incident Management Policy (IM 1.0). See Incident Management Policy (IM 1.0) for further details.

The Information Manager records any data breaches on the Data Breach Log. See Data Breach Log for further details.
